Wheeler appraise antiques at meeting

Just like the Antiques Roadshow on television, the Centerville Lions Club hosted Sue and Scott Wheeler from Wheeler's Antiques on west Main Street at their Feb. 27th dinner meeting. The event was held in the Senior Center and several members brought items to have appraised.

Paintings, jewelry, pottery, along with model cars and prints were displayed and Scott and Sue Wheeler described each item and estimated their value. Wheeler's Antiques are open daily from 11 am to 5 pm on West Main Street and have been a part of our town since 1970.

President Tim McConaha conducted the business meeting and Ty Farmer reported on the new proposed garage door for the storage room at the Mansion House. This project should be completed by spring.

Looking ahead

It's going to be a busy second half of the Lions year.

The annual Awards Night of the community service awards and outstanding citizens will be held on Monday April 24 at 7 m in the high school cafetorium.
