Lions learn about hospice

Hospice care is about living. Susan Campbell of Premier Hospice of Carmel spoke to members of the Centerville Lions Club Monday evening, April 28.

She said hospice care is for persons with a limited life expectancy. She said they offer skilled nursing, certified nursing assistants, medical social workers and bereavement care. Campbell said there are several levels of care. They offer medications, medical equipment and supplies. Volunteer services provide encouragement and companionship, emotional support to patients and families and of course, running errands.

Hospice is paid for through Medicare, Medicaid, private insurance and individual payments. Campbell said their goal is to care for those experiencing a terminal illness by providing joy, love and tranquility.

Officers elected for next year

Lion Jack Farmer was elected president of the Centerville Lions Club for 2014-2015 Monday evening, April 28. Election of officers for next year was held at the Senior Center in Centerville. His daughter, Pam Tidrow, was elected first vice president. Tim McConaha, who served as president in 2006-2007, was elected second vice president.

Others elected to serve for the next year are:

Wendy Kornman, secretary; Courtney Amos, assistant secretary.

Dennis Stephen, treasurer; Phil Benedict, assistant treasurer.

President Bob Hobson will serve on the board as past president.

Paul Elstro, tail twister; Steve Sheckles, assistant tail twister.

Steve Sheckles, lion tamer; Bob Hobson, assistant lion tamer.

Ty Farmer and Mike Spotts were elected to two year terms on the board.

Joe Elstro and Bill Felker were re-elected to one year terms on the board.

Phil Benedict and Mike Spotts were named to co-chair the new membership committee.

The officers will be installed at the June 9th meeting.
