Lions kick off new year with annual steak fry

Centerville Lions kicked off its new year with the annual steak fry Monday evening, September 12 at the Mansion House in Centerville. Around 15 attended.

They enjoyed a steak dinner prepared by Lion Paul and Marie Elstro and their son, Lion Joe Elstro.

Treasurer Dennis Stephen listening to Carolyn LaFever of Historic Centerville, Inc.

Carolyn LaFever, a trustee of Historic Centerville, Inc. spoke to Lions after the dinner. She asked Lions to help support the group, which runs the Mansion House.

She told of improvements made to the 1840 Mansion House including the installation of a new roof and of activities held at that location. She said they need help not only with volunteering, but with persons who would like to get involved with serving on the board.
