Great Turnout For Christmas in Centerville

Good weather blessed the annual Christmas in Centerville Festival in Centerville on Saturday, December 4. The nighttime Christmas parade was a favorite of fans as it started at Maplewood Park and proceeded south to Main Street and then east to 4th Street. Everyone said it was well done and proceeded without a hitch.

Lots of people were seen walking the streets by the historic homes. Thanks to technology they were able to follow it on their phones.

Christmas in Centerville was not held last year due to Covid-19.

Lions Hear About Model T Ford Museum in Richmond

Rachel Hughes, Executive Director of the Model T Ford Museum in Richmond spoke to the members and guests at the Lions dinner meeting on November 22 at the Centerville Senior Centerville.

Rachel told the history of the Model T which Henry Ford invented and described the museum's operations. The museum was begun in 2007 by Jay Klehfoth and is located now at 309 N. 8th Street in Richmond.

The museum contains 42 Model T cars. Hours are 10 am to 4 pm Wednesday through Sunday.

Lions Continue to Serve

The Lions Club voted at the November 22nd meeting to donate $300 to the Centerville High School After Prom party to be held in May at the Richmond Airport Hanger. A donation of $300 was also given to the Lions Clubs Indiana State projects, along with a $300 donation to the Lions International LCIF project to help others. Richard Tincher and Vickie Chasteen were guests.

During the coronavirus pandemic the club decided to delay the Community Awards until the spring of 2022. The date for the event will be decided in February. And the club says its planned community breakfasts will probably begin in February.
