Lions Club Presents Dictionaries to Third Grade Students

Members of the Centerville Lions Club continued with its fine project of donating new dictionaries to 144 third graders in Centerville schools this week. Lions Dennis Stephen and Tim McConaha handed out dictionaries.

The club receives the books from The Dictionary Project and has completed this project for the last several years. The dictionaries contain several additional items, including The Declaration of Independence, the Constitution, a brief biography of all the U.S. Presidents and information on all 50 states and countries of the world.

Centerville School Resource Officer Speaks to Lions

Joshua Millsaps with
Lion President Hobson

Centerville School Resource Officer Joshua Millsaps spoke to members and guests of the Centerville Lions Club Monday evening, January 27. The dinner meeting was held at the Centerville Senior Center. An officer of the Centerville Police Department, Josh is a 2009 graduate of Centerville High School. He enjoys helping students in his new role as Resource Officer in the elementary through high school and is the security officer for the buildings.

Lions Approve Donations and Look at Projects

The Centerville Lions Club voted, at its January 27 meeting, to donate $250 to Lions LCIF organization for world wide disaster relief and $250 to Camp Woodsmoke, a District 25-F project with other Wayne County Lions Clubs. The Club's Lion which is used on floats and special events has been refurbished by the Art Club of Centerville High School. The club is thankful to the students for the hard work to make Mr. Lion look good again.

The Club members are considering new projects for this year along with the annual fish fry which will be held the first week of June. Dues are now due for members. Dennis Stephen is club treasurer.

President Bob Hobson welcomed guest and prospective new member Chris Goodwin, friend of member Jeff Jenkins.
