Lions Hear About The New Blue Buffalo Plant

The October 14th dinner meeting of the Centerville Lions Club was held at the Centerville Senior Center. Speaker was Mr. Craig Hughes, Production Manager of the Blue Buffalo plant in Wayne County. He was introduced by the Lions Club Vice President Holly Stiggleman, who is also a neighbor of Mr. Hughes.

Lion VP Holly Stiggleman with Craig Hughes

Craig and his wife, originally from Nebraska, moved to Wayne County to begin work on the new plant two years ago. Employment is nearing 165 people and they produce a variety of different dog foods and treats for both dogs and cats. Founded by Bill Bishop and son in 2002, the company is now owned by General Mills. Another facility is located in Missouri.

A slide presentation of the company's history was shown. Travis Moore is plant manager.

VP Holly Stiggleman conducted the business meeting and expressed appreciation to Lions members Joe Elstro and Ty Farmer for preparing the Homecoming parade float this year. The CHS Art Dept. will be refurbishing the Lion to display on future floats.

Ty Farmer also attended the recent Lions Club Zone meeting which includes all the other clubs in Wayne County. A future joint project for the clubs could be to restore one of the cabins at Camp Woodsmoke in southern Indiana. The cabins all need new roofs.
